

POLICY AND PROCEDURE

TITLE:	Conflict of Interest

POLICY STATEMENT:

The purpose of this policy is to ensure that Interested Persons make decisions that are in the best interests of the University, unaffected by Conflicts of Interest. The policy is intended to encompass all types of Conflicts of Interest, including a transaction or arrangement being considered by the University that might benefit the personal interest of an Interested Person. This policy is intended to supplement but not replace any applicable state and federal laws governing conflict of interest applicable to nonprofit and charitable organizations.

PROCEDURE DETAILS:

Duty to Disclose. An Interested Person has a duty to disclose any actual or potential Conflict of Interest he or she may have in any matter, action or transaction being considered by the University. The Interested Person shall provide the material facts to the Board of Trustees, board committee, or other decision-making body of the University concerning the actual or potential Conflict of Interest unless the disclosure would breach a duty of confidentiality owed to another organization.

Determining Whether a Conflict of Interest Exists. If it is not clear whether an Interested Person has a Conflict of Interest, the board, committee or other decision-making body of the University shall decide whether a conflict exists, without the presence or participation of the Interested Person.

Recusal When a Conflict Exists. An Interested Person may not vote or participate in the deliberations or decision on the matter in which the Interested Person has a Conflict of Interest and shall not be present during discussion and voting on the matter.

1. Addressing the Conflict of Interest

An interested person may make a presentation at the governing board or committee meeting, but after the presentation, he/she shall leave the meeting during the discussion of, and the vote on, the transaction or arrangement involving the possible conflict of interest.

The chairperson of the governing board or committee shall, if appropriate, appoint a disinterested person or committee to investigate alternatives to the proposed transaction or arrangement.

After exercising due diligence, the governing board or committee shall determine whether the University can obtain with reasonable efforts a more advantageous transaction or arrangement from a person or entity that would not give rise to a conflict of interest.

If a more advantageous transaction or arrangement is not reasonably possible under circumstances not producing a conflict of interest, the governing board or committee shall determine by a majority vote of the disinterested directors whether the transaction or arrangement is in the University's best interest, for its own benefit, and whether it is fair and reasonable. In conformity with the above determination it shall make its decision as to whether to enter into the transaction or arrangement.

A person who has a conflict of interest with respect to a contract or transaction that will be voted on at a meeting shall not be counted in determining the presence of a quorum for the purposes of the vote. For purposes of the section, a member of the board of trustees of Goodwin University has a conflict of interest when he or she stands for election as an officer or for re-election as a member of the Board of Trustees.

2. Violations of the Conflicts of Interest Policy

If the governing board or committee has reasonable cause to believe a member has failed to disclose actual or possible conflicts of interest, it shall inform the member of the basis for such belief and afford the member an opportunity to explain the alleged failure to disclose.

If, after hearing the member's response and after making further investigation as warranted by the circumstances, the governing board or committee determines the member has failed to disclose an actual or possible conflict of interest, it shall take appropriate disciplinary and corrective action.

3. Records of Proceedings

The minutes of the governing board and all committees with board-delegated powers shall contain:

The names of the persons who disclosed or otherwise were found to have a financial interest in connection with an actual or possible conflict of interest, the nature of the financial interest, any action taken to determine whether a conflict of interest was present, and the governing board or committee's decision as to whether a conflict of interest in fact existed.

The names of the persons who were present for discussions and votes relating to the transaction or arrangement, the content of the discussion, including any alternatives to the proposed transaction or

Understands the University is charitable and in order to maintain its federal tax exemption, it must engage primarily in activities which accomplish one or more of its tax-exempt purposes.

6. Periodic Reviews.

To ensure the University operates in a manner consistent with charitable purposes and does not engage in activities that could jeopardize its tax-exempt status, periodic reviews shall be conducted. The periodic reviews shall, at a minimum, include the following subjects:

Whether compensation arrangements and benefits are reasonable, based on competent survey information and the result of arm's length bargaining.

Whether partnerships, joint ventures, and arrangements with management organizations conform to the University's written policies are properly recorded, reflect reasonable investment or payments for goods and services, further charitable purposes and do not result in inurement, impermissible private benefit or in an excess benefit transaction.

7. Use of Outside Experts

When conducting the periodic reviews as provided for in Section 6, the University may, but need not, use outside advisors. If outside experts are used, their use shall not relieve the Board of Trustees of its responsibility for ensuring periodic reviews are conducted.
